DISCOVERY OF HIGH-GRADE OIL IN WAINWRIGHT

Samples taken to Edmonton indicate that fluid is of exceptional quality.

Wainwright was all agog with excitement last week when the news spread that oil had been discovered in the well on the Fieldhouse property on Second Avenue, and that Messrs. Fieldhouse, Robinson and Brown had taken samples of the fluid to Edmonton for the purposes of analysis.

It appears that this particular well has been noticeably in an oily state since last January and although it has been cleaned out twice the water still continues to carry oil on its surface.

On Wednesday morning a large crowd of our business men were busily investigating the "hole in the ground" and as fast as any receptacle was pumped full with water the top was skimmed off and bottled as prima facie evidence of the "oil strike."

This substance is of such consistency that it readily burns with the application of a light and indeed, the gas engine at the Star office was run for upwards of an hour on Thursday with this product for fuel, and in addition Mr. F. W. Fish was busy giving "joy-rides" in his Ford truck which was using the same "oil" for power.

The news caused several other well owners in town to investigate and it has been discovered that wells at the Mill, at the Model Meat Market, and other widely distributed points in town are all contaminated and showing traces of the oil. The Stuart well, which has been untapped for several months giving nearly five gallons of oil from its surface in one skimming.

The samples which were taken to the city from the wells reveal the product to be of such a high grade that Edmonton men are skeptical as to whether or not the fluid actually came from the wells as related. The oil is practically pure kerosene and it is actually discovered in the well will create a precedent hitherto unknown in the production of oil.

Samples of the fluid are at present in the hands of Dr. Kelson, analyst for the University of Alberta. Dr. Kelson reported on Friday that he had not had sufficient time to make a thorough test and was therefore unable to express an opinion.

Professor John A. Allan of the department of geology, University of Alberta, who has seen the samples, thought it was hardly possible that such a high grade oil could be taken from any well.

"From what I have seen of the product it is pure kerosene," he said. "It looks like it and certainly smells like it and has a marked absence of any lubricating properties. Personally I cannot see how such a product could be produced at first hand from any field, but of course in these days you cannot tell" added the University professor.

He remarked there was no known reservoir of pure kerosene in the world and it would be

THE RURAL EDITOR'S LOT

A child is born in the neighborhood; the editor gives the loud-lounged youngster and the happy parents a send off and gets $200.00. It is christened and the minister gets $3.00 and the editor gets $50.00. The editor blushes and tells a dozen lies about the beautiful and accomplished bride. The minister gets $10.00 and a piece of cake and the editor gets $50.00. In the course of time she dies the doctor gets $15 to $100, the minister gets perhaps another $3, the undertaker gets from $75 to $200, the editor prints an obituary two columns long and gets $50.00. No wonder so many country editors get rich! Have you paid your subscription?—Ex.

ANGLICAN SERVICES AT ST. PATRICK'S CH.

On account of the unsatisfactory service of Sunday trains so far as Heath is concerned, a meeting of the congregation was held in St. Thomas' church on Sunday afternoon, the evening service. The vicar explained the situation and it was the unanimous feeling of those present that the people of Heath should not be deprived of their Sunday services. The friendly relations existing between the two congregations was plainly noted when some eight or ten persons willingly volunteered to motor the vicar down to their town—except when the weather is too bad or the roads impassable.

EDMONTON CHIEF PORT FOR CUB

Edmonton is now a chief port for both customs and excise, a change in the regulations having just gone into effect by which the upper part of the province is made tributary to that city.

The line of division between the Edmonton and Calgary districts crosses the province from Fusilier on the Lacombe branch, to Nordegg, all the territory north of that line falling to Edmonton.

To keep in a healthy condition charity needs to be exercised daily, but need not be done publicly.

BIG OPENING SALE AT U.F.W.A. REST ROOM ON SATURDAY NEXT

ODDFELLOWS ANNIVERSARY

All Oddfellows and Rebekahs are asked to meet at the lodge room on Sunday next at 10:00 a.m. sharp for the purpose of attending the anniversary services which will be held at Chauvin on that date.

Love may be all that is needed to supply the physical needs of the newly married couple, eminent authorities to the contrary notwithstanding, but one thing is certain, it helps wonderfully in brightening up gloomy surroundings and in making even coarse food quite palatable.

TO ASSIST THE FARMERS BY PLACING SETTLERS ON UNOCCUPIED LANDS

MANAGING DIRECTOR OF THE WESTERN CANADA COLONIZATION ASSOCIATION DISCLOSES THE PLANS OF THE ORGANIZATION MAJOR GENERAL A. D. McRAE C.B., IMMIGRATION EXPERT ASKS FOR PROVINCIAL LAND SETTLEMENT BOARDS AND FOR STABILIZED LISTS OF VACANT LANDS WITH PRICES GOOD FOR A REASONABLE PERIOD.

"As Mr. T. A. Cramer has said, population is the only possible solution of the National Railways problem. The simple fact is that neither Western Canada nor Canada as a whole can continue to carry on without a marked increase in the number of people on the land. The present sparse settlement of the three prairie provinces inflicts an unnecessary burden upon the settlers themselves, as it does upon the entire country. The larger the number of actual farmers on the soil, the more potent will their voice be in regard to such questions as freight, elevating, marketing and so on."

A number of far-seeing men have brought the Western Canada Colonization Association into being. The organization has no share capital. Under its federal charter it can make no profits. It is financed by voluntary subscriptions from public spirited citizens who have the progress and welfare of the country at heart. Its Board of Directors is made up of representative farmers and leading business men. Its purpose is to bring under production the vast unoccupied lands lying close to existing railways and held out of cultivation in the main by absentee owners.

Major-General A. D. McRae, C.B., who was recently appointed Managing Director of the Association, is an experienced Colonization expert, and in the plan drawn up by him the heartiest co-operation on the part of the Prairie Province Government is essential to the success of the project. He asks that each of the three administrations appoint a Land Settlement Board to provide the Association with a fixed list of unoccupied lands at prices good for a reasonable period; He refuses to believe that any one of the provinces will forego its share of the prospective benefits to be derived from the great fund raised by the Western Canada Colonization Association.

During the last few days a delegation, including Major-General McRae, Mr. M. A. Brown of Medicine Hat, Vice-President, and other Directors of the Association, has visited upon the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta cabinets with a memorial setting forth the suggestions of the organization. In each case the deputations were received by the Premier and his colleagues. The memorial presented read as follows:

To the Honourable Mr. Premier and Ministers of the Council: I thank you on behalf of the Directors of the Western Canada Colonization Association for this opportunity of meeting with you to consider the problems of colonization in your Province. Before proceeding I would like to state the mission of our Association. Our organization is supported entirely by voluntary subscriptions from prominent Canadian individuals and corporations. Business interests in Eastern and Western Canada have subscribed a very large sum of money to an Association whose only aim is to assist in settling the unoccupied lands of Western Canada. This fact reveals a national realization of the urgent need for increased immigration to the land. Understanding in an active sympathy with the people of the Prairie Provinces and their problems. Our whole object will be hereafter shown to be better their economic position together with that of the whole Dominion.

To Settle Unoccupied Lands We seek no cash assistance

unjustifiable public expenditures on branch railways, roads, schools, churches, telephones, etc. Not overlooking some unfortunate areas where settlement should never have been permitted. I feel that it will be greatly to the advantage of each of the Western Provinces to assume the direction of new settlers.

The Legislation Required

I seriously believe that the success of our efforts to assist in the settlement of the unoccupied land in this Province largely depends upon our being able to co-operate with and work through a properly constituted and effective Provincial Agency. We therefore desire to submit for your most earnest consideration the following legislation as in our judgment the minimum that will meet the situation and facilitate our endeavors for the public welfare.

A—Establish a Provincial Land Settlement Board consisting of one Director who will be responsible to and under the direction of the Minister of Agriculture.

B—Require the owners of unoccupied land, upon receipt of notice, to file, within a given time, with the Land Settlement Board, their own valuation of their unoccupied land, together with terms thereof, such sale value (conditional upon the land still remaining unoccupied) to hold good for a period of two years or thereafter until the owner withdraws same; provision being made to allow the owner one year's interest at six per cent on valuation and a refund of taxes paid in case a sale is made after the expiration of the first year.

C—Make such valuation the basis for the unoccupied land tax.

D—Authorize the Land Settlement Board to appraise any unoccupied land on which the owner has failed to make the required return and where it deems necessary to appraise any unoccupied land or which the owner's sale valuation and terms are considered to be unreasonable and in effect a withdrawal of the land from settlement. Provide that such land shall be assessed double the unoccupied land tax by way of penalty.

E—Require the non-resident owner of unoccupied land to appoint a duly authorized agent in the locality of his land, to whom purchasers may be referred. Require such owner to authorize such agent to effect sale on his behalf at the price and on the terms filed with the Land Settlement Board.

Work For The Land Board

The foregoing recommendations are only what we regard as necessary to enable us to co-operate successfully with you. Once the Land Settlement Board has been established and its usefulness demonstrated, undoubtedly wide powers will be granted to it.

The Board will deal with all immigration problems in and for the Province. Not only will it be the instrument through which you will carry on your provincial immigration efforts; it will also

THE PROVINCES AND LAND SETTLEMENT

The Western Canada Colonization Association—an organization of Eastern and Western business men devoted to the task of financing and directing a great colonization enterprise—is now working out the practical plans which it hopes to achieve its purpose; and an interesting and suggestive revelation of the lines upon which it plans to proceed is made in the memorial which has been presented by Gen. McRae to the governments of the three prairie provinces.

The disappearance of free homestead land and temporary suspension of railway building and, to a great extent, of town building, have brought new problems for the agencies that deal with colonization and immigration. In the old days immigrants in the mass could be thrown into the hopper with at least a reasonable presumption that each one would find a place suitable for his capacities and inclinations. The sturdy immigrant, with no assets but his physical strength found ready employment in construction work, while the handseckers went with the tide to the most readily available homestead areas and in the great majority of cases got a reasonably suitable location. The individual risk of coming to the Canadian West was slight; if a man had energy and strength he was sure to find an opening of some kind.

Those simple conditions have passed away. The problem now has its complexities. There is a vast country here with an almost unlimited capacity for absorbing immigrants, if the immigration is selected, directed and supervised. Intelligent colonization work must go hand in hand with the labors of our immigration agencies or it might easily happen that an influx of immigrants, would simply add to our perplexities. Primarily the problem is one of getting people on the land and keeping them there. As the vacant places in the country are filled up opportunities for city dwellers will develop, but the procedure cannot be safely reversed.

Getting people on the land in sufficient numbers to accomplish the results desired means getting people to come here, buy land, settle upon it and cultivate it. In the main we must look for the sources from which we can draw these required reinforcements in the agricultural populations of other lands, though the economic readjustments may shift a considerable number of city workers to the land. The attractions of a prospective home in Western Canada are probably strong enough to induce a desire to come to this country in tens of thousands of people who would make admirable settlers; but the difficulties and perplexities involved in moving to a vast new country where the desirable opening has to be sought for operate to check the inclination taking form.

The programme of the Western Canada Colonization Association takes cognizance of these factors, and seeks to modify them. It suggests to the Provincial Governments of the three Western provinces, in effect, that their part in the great co-operative colonization movement now being planned shall be to take charge of the settler when he arrives and see that he is supplied with land suitable to his needs and his resources. The proposition is that each province shall create a land settlement board, with necessary powers, charged with the duty of so directing the tide of incoming settlers that the unoccupied tillable land will pass, upon some consistent plan, into the possession of owners who will live upon it and cultivate it. This makes it necessary for the land settlement board to have within reasonable limitations, access to and control of vacant lands available for settlement; and the means by which this can be secured are suggested in the specific recommendations made by General McRae to the three Western governments.

The public interest in bringing unoccupied lands under cultivation need not be stressed. There is no business or institution in the country which would not benefit directly and immediately. The school district and the municipality would get more taxpayers to help bear the burden of the existing machinery; there would be more business for the local merchants which would mean more business for manufacturers, jobbers and railways; the beneficial effect of any considerable influx of new farmers would be immediately apparent.

The problem of immigration and colonization is too big and too complex to be solved by any one agency. The Dominion Government alone cannot do it; nor can the railways; nor can the provinces; nor private colonization companies; nor individual initiative. There has got to be co-operation by all these agencies; and the Western Canada Colonization Association may do a work of immense value by co-ordinating these various activities. Their suggestion as to the part which the province can play is certainly timely and practical and it should receive the early and very careful consideration of the governments and legislatures concerned.—Manitoba Free Press.

Looking for Building Boom in Calgary

Officials in the building department of the city of Calgary anticipate a splendid year of construction and early indications point to it as being one of the best since long before the war. Reports from all quarters are coming into the department and a busy time in the building trade may be looked for early.

Take Law in Own Hands

Several hundred pigs ran wild through the streets and yards in the East Buffalo section recently when 200 women, weary of waiting for city ordinances to regulate livestock, driving through the streets, took the law into their own hands. Finding the drovers evasive, the women attacked them with sticks and stones. The pigs scattered during the riot. A bullet which was cut and bruised, but seemed most concerned over the loss of their charges. The department of public health and public safety have had under consideration for several weeks ordinances forbidding the promiscuous driving of pigs through the streets.

His story is that Kirkpatrick was attempting to take a cow, ownership disputed, from his barn and that he threatened Siddall with a knife when he interfered. Siddall shot Kirkpatrick in the leg then gave first aid and took him to his home before reporting it to the police.

Oil Well Flowing Freely

Advises received from Fort Macpherson dated Feb. 15 and brought by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police expedition which left Dawson about the first of the year, say that letters received from Fort Norman say that the oil well there is flowing 1,500 barrels daily. ## Clay Discovered in Saskatchewan

An interesting discovery, which may become of great importance in the future, has recently been made in connection with clay which can be used for the production of fine porcelain china, bricks, terra cotta, floor and wall tile, pottery and hotel ware. Many articles manufactured from this clay are at present on exhibition in Miss Patsch's studio in Hunter's, Limited, Regina, Saskatchewan, and are attracting a large number of interested visitors. Miss Patsch, feeling convinced that Saskatchewan clay could be used for her purpose, decided some time ago to get some specimens and at East End and Knollys she discovered some valuable fine clay, almost white in its natural state. She afterwards persuaded the government to have tests made of it and the tests proved that the local clay was as good, and in some cases better, than that formerly obtained in the United States. The terra cotta obtained from this clay is of excellent color and texture for use in building construction both interior and exterior. The floor tile on exhibit is made up of a variety of shapes and colors, and is of sufficient hardness to endure many hard knocks and prevent excessive absorption of water. The china is said to be equal to any on the American market.

WHICH DO YOU POSSESS?

Will Power or Wish Power?

There is all the difference in the world between what you wish and what you will. Anybody can wish anything. You can sit on the porch and wish you were the Queen of Sheba. But it takes will to go out in the kitchen and wash the dishes.

Wish is often a wind bag. Will is a go-getter. Wish talks a lot. Will is apt to be brimly silent. "Blab, blab, blab," begins your tongue. "Never mind what he says. Watch what I make him do," says your will. And what your will says goes.

It is amazing, the discrepancy between some of our proclaimed wishes and our inner desires. We are continually saying that we can't do things which we could do if we honestly wanted to; and we are continually promising to do things which we don't do because we don't honestly will to do them.

I once knew a man who was a wonder when it came to talking about the great future that lay ahead of him. He was going to conquer the world when it came to grabbing a spade and beginning the job he simply wasn't there. Apparently his will took no stock whatever in the man. From somewhere inside him he got orders from his will reading about this way: "That will do. I have heard enough talk. Go get your slippers and climb into the hammock. You don't want to get orders from your will. And he did as he was told."

Another case comes to my mind, that of a stinging mechanic who wouldn't let his wife keep a canary because of the expense involved. He could talk for hours and convincingly too, about his lack of money. But his will took a different view of the matter, for he bought himself a splendid gun and a new pair of business sixty dollars—an incredible outlay for him. But he would do it, and he got what he wanted. Men do get what they want, almost invariably. Can't you hear that mechanic's wife telling you these instructions to him: "Have you finished blowing about your impotency? All right, then—listen. You can pinch and scrape and scrimp to get what you want. You want that gun. Get it. Get it somehow, even if you have to economize for a year."

"And another thing, when you get it polish it two hours a day for a week. I know you will tell your wife that you are too tired to wash your face and hands for supper. And she will believe you. And you will believe yourself. But you'll polish that gun because I tell you to. That's all. Run along now. And don't get off any more of your guff to me."

Your will is the boy that carries the wallop. No matter what your tongue says, how you try to fool yourself and others—your will is the chap that rules the roost. I don't know where the seat of the will is, but I know it's in the best seat in the house, and that the fellow who sits in it runs the show.

What weakens the will? Loud talk and foolish desires that cannot be realized. What strengthens it? Great talk and reasonable claims that can be and are carried out.

IS THIS YOUR NAME?

Marcella

A most popular French name, which has gained great vogue in England and America. It is a name with a distinguished origin and history. It comes from ancient Rome directly, though its earliest origin is found in the Greek word meaning soft or tender, yet by a curious twist this word signifies "of Mars," and hence should be regarded as a term denoting strength or an iron like quality.

In early Rome Marcella was a name belonging to a noble gens of Sabine origin which gave a king to Rome and later named the high spirited Marcius Coriolanus. The daughters were called Marcia or Marzia, and later from the same origin sprang the name of the last mentioned was made famous by one of the young Roman girls

The PERSONAL SIDE

PROMINENT WESTERN CHARACTERS—SOME INTERESTING ANECDOTES OF PEOPLE WE ALL KNOW

A FAMOUS INDIAN CHIEF

This famous Chief of the Blackfeet has been described as the "greatest Indian monarch in all Canada, a noble king-like man, tall and straight, slim as a girl, with the face of an eagle or an ancient Roman."

The father of Crowfoot was a Chief of the Blackfeet Indians. He was a man of exceptional powers and had great influence. His mother was a Blood Indian woman; and he was born about the year 1826, and was named Akantemikassina, which means in English, "Many Names." Although Crowfoot was the son of a Chief he was granted no special favors and had to win his laurels independent of his birth. As a boy he felt a hereditary pride in belonging to such a warlike tribe as the Blackfeet, whose name brought terror to the Crees and other Indian tribes and there arose in his heart an ambition to be worthy of the family of chiefs to which he belonged. Crowfoot showed such bravery and was so energetic on the warpath that his name was changed to that of "Kaiosta" which means "bear ghost." He had an elder brother who bore the name of Crowfoot because of his successful expeditions against the Crow Indians. The Blackfeet intended to make a treaty with the Snake Indians and dispatched fourteen of their "bravest and wisest men." Crowfoot being one of the number. The Snake Indians ignored all laws relating to bearers of peace and slew them.

The Chief and tribes of the Blackfeet were enraged at this act of cruelty and determined to avenge the death of these warriors, so a large war party was organized in which Kaiosta joined. The bravery of the youthful warrior was so great that his name was again changed; he received that belonging to his dead brother and was known ever after as Crowfoot. He became, after his father, Chief of his tribe; although he was slow and deliberate in speech, a man of few words, yet he was distinguished among his people as an orator. His language was expressive and sometimes full of beautiful imagery. When discussing grave questions in the native council he far surpassed the strongest intellect among his people. A true idea of his power as a speaker can hardly be gained from his address to Government officials, as the questions discussed were merely the petty concerns of everyday life.

On the occasion of the Blackfoot Treaty with the Government, affected in 1877, he made a striking speech to Lieutenant Governor Laird. When the correspondent of the Toronto Mail visited Blackfoot Crossing, Crowfoot was interviewed and his skill in dealing with men is seen in the manner in which he dealt with the subjects mentioned to him. He said:

"It always happens that far away countries hear exaggerated stories of one another. I often hear things of far off places but I do not believe them; it may be very little and be magnified as it goes. When I hear such news about you as you hear about me, I don't believe it, but I go to the Indian Agent or someone else in authority and ask and find out the truth. Why should the Blackfeet create trouble? Are they not quiet and peaceable and industrious? The Government is doing well for them and treating them kindly and they are doing well. Why should they kill us, or we kill you? Let our white friends have compassion. I have two hearts—one is like stone and one is tender. Suppose the soldiers come and without provocation try to kill us—I am not a child—I know we shall get redress from the law. If they did kill us my tender heart would feel for my people."

Crowfoot's abilities as a leader were specially keen. He had a strong intellect, a good knowledge of human nature and was a wise and successful diplomat. He loved his people and the customs of his race, but was very friendly towards the white people and was never tired of urging the natives to imitate their virtues and keep clear of their vices. His grunt meaning "no" ran through the tribe and ruled their opinions. He never shared honors with a squaw and maintained that no woman would have him.

The Indians were very superstitious about the railroad before it reached the country and Crowfoot was almost alone in his opinion that it was merely a wagon on wheels made by man without any supernatural power. When Crowfoot visited the east he was entertained at Winnipeg, Ottawa and Montreal. During his visit Sir William Van Horne informed him that a perpetual pass would be granted him over the Canadian Pacific Railroad. In acknowledging the address of the railway officials, he said: "My heart has always been loyal, I love the palefaces. When I return my young men will protect the railway and the fire wagons."

Doubts at various times were entertained about Crowfoot's loyalty; these were, however, set at rest by his actions during the rebellion. In 1875 Sitting Bull, who had fought Custer, visited Crowfoot to secure his help, but he firmly refused. In protesting his loyalty Crowfoot concluded: "To rise there must be an object; to rebel there must be a wrong done; to do either we should know how it would benefit us. We do not wish for war. We have nothing to gain; but we know that people make money by war on Indians, and these people want war to steal the right of war from men—that is to fight without the consent of the Government—don't let them. The Queen does not want war when there is no cause. She is not in favor of war. Let the Government know that we favor peace and want it. I have done."

Some years after the rebellion Crowfoot's health began to fail; the incantations of the medicine brought him no relief. Everything was done for him, but the end was near. He distributed his horses among his relatives. The gifts he had received during his visit East were given to his white friends. "Three Bulls," his brother, was nominated as his successor, and with an admonition to the natives to live on good terms with the white people, he breathed his last on April 24, 1899. Rev. Father Lacombe performed the burial services and he was laid to rest amid the lamentations of his people and the sincere sorrow of the white population.

COMMISSIONERS FOR GRAIN TRADE ARE NOW APPOINTED

Editor "The Star",
Dear Sir:

I am enclosing copy of an order in-Council just passed appointing a Commission to investigate the grain trade and outlining their duties. It will be observed that each of the three Prairie Provinces is represented on this Commission and in addition the Eastern Canada interests are represented by Mr. Lincoln Goldie of Guelph, Ont.

It is most desirable that this Commission when they sit should get all the information possible from the farmers' standpoint as to the abuses that undoubtedly exist in the grain trade, and where possible definite and specific information should be given. I am not sure at the present time what the programme of the Commission will be as to where they will hold their sittings and when, but this undoubtedly will be given general publicity through the press later on.

I consider it desirable that every locality should be apprised fully of this inquiry, and for that reason I am sending you full particulars at hand up to the present time.

Yours very truly

W. J. BLAIR

FIGHT WEEDS WITH PROFITABLE CROPS

Why should human labor be wasted in fighting weeds? With an ordinary single-furrow walking plow, turning a 12-inch furrow, a man will walk over 10 miles in plowing an acre once over. Add to this the walking necessary for harrowing, cross harrowing and cultivating, and then calculate how much has been wasted when the yield is only half or two-thirds as large as it would have been had it not been choked by weeds. This will give some idea of the cost of weeds to the farmer. Many weeds are able to survive the ordinary cultivation given in reaping and the seed bed. These veteran weeds are among the worst enemies the farmer has to fight. Quack or couch grass stands out very prominently in this class.

Weeds of this kind should be fought with profitable crops. This has been done on many of the farms in Dundas county, where the Commission of Conservation is conducting illustration work. One field of seven acres which was badly infested by quack grass was plowed in the autumn of 1919 and in the spring of 1920 was thoroughly cultivated frequently to keep it from showing green until well into June, when it was sown to buckwheat at about double the amount per acre as is sown on clean land when a grain crop is the sole end in view. The farmer conducting the work reports his results as follows: "The buckwheat grew grand and heavy that we had to let it get dead ripe before we could cut it with the binder. We threshed 40 bushels x 2 to the acre in spite of the fact that some spilled on the ground. There is not a speck of quack to be seen this fall. The soil is very mellow and we have cultivated it two or three times since harvest. We intend to sow grain in it in the spring and seed it to alfalfa as the field is naturally well drained and is now in good condition."

THE REASON WHY SOME HORSES BALK

Balky horses are always a nuisance, and cause a great loss of time. I have found some experience that a lot of them can be avoided.

I once saw a horse that wouldn't pull on a new collar. Everything looked alright and the collar seemed to fit. Yet he would start into the collar and back off. He had always been a good worker, and it seemed queer to find him balking. However, a careful examination showed a small cobbler's nail, left in the collar during the process of manufacture. It was removed, and the horse pulled some horses would have pulled this away. This one was of such disposition that he wouldn't.

I saw a German farmer drive a confirmed balky. It was threshing time, and he put on a fair load. Whenever the horse wanted to stop, which he indicated by throwing his head over the other horse's shoulder, the German said "Whoa". He stopped for a minute started the team off to the left side, and then pulled. By carefully watching and stopping the horse before he balked he got away with it all day. In time he got to be a fairly good puller. Probably a little carelessness in the first few months started this horse to balking. This kind of a driver wouldn't have had this trouble.

I knew another horse that wouldn't tackle a big load of anything. It was found that his collar was too tight. A heavy draft-horse collar made a good puller out of him. Usually there is a reason, and often a balky can be broken, but not always.

The picturization by Bessie Barriscale of the third of the novels of Kathleen Norris, the famous writer of women's stories, within the last few months, presents a remarkable example of co-operation between a fiction writer and a screen artist. The third picture, "The Luck of Geraldine Laird," a Robertson-Cole Superior which will be seen at the Elite theatre Saturday next originally was published under the same name as a serial.

Whether Miss Norris has a standard heroine, who fits closely to the needs of Bessie Barriscale, or whether Miss Barriscale twists her emotional self most sympathetically to the women who are created by the pen of Miss Norris is not stated. Chances are it is the latter, for all the central figures in the stories filmed by Miss Barriscale are different.

NEW RATES FOR LONG DIST. PHONES TO GO INTO EFFECT

Increased rates on long distance telephone messages have been proposed in new lists printed for the province of Alberta. The new scheme is to grade the class of service given. In this way, the rates for "station to station" services would remain the same as present rate for all long distance calls but the call would have to be paid for if the two numbers were connected regardless of whether the right party answered the other phone or not. For "person to person" service, where it is necessary to get the particular party calling, at his phone when the particular party called is secured at the other phone, 25% more would be charged. Where an appointment is necessary or messenger used to secure party, rates are 50% up. Written messages handled as well as telegrams would take latter rate. When a party is called and cannot be secured a charge of 25% of the present rate is made for "report" given. Night rates will only apply on "station to station" service. It was proposed to institute the new rates, on May 1st but Calgary and Edmonton Boards of Trade have asked that they be withheld until approved by the Utilities Board. At a meeting of the Utilities Board held in Edmonton Tuesday both sides presented their case. Business men claimed that ninety percent of all calls were person to person and the increase would be too great and would drive men to use telegraph lines instead. Objection was also made to the change of hours for night calls from 7 to 8.30 as that would be too late for country offices. Superintendent Baxter claimed that $200,000 had been spent on toll line extensions and that no increases had been made in rates since 1908 although costs had gone up 100%. Further meetings will be held to consider the matter and meantime the new rates will not likely be enforced until further notice.

THE SCHOOL TEACHERS' INFLUENCE

To the rising generations must we look for many changes and improvements in our municipal conditions.

The children of the present, under the influence of a broad-minded teacher, will absorb lessons which will later be an enormous influence for good. A recognition of this fact, and of the great dependence placed upon them should be in the mind of everyone entrusted with the upbringing of our youth. The extent to which this power to influence children for good is recognized may be gleaned from the number of appeals made to the school teachers for assistance. Every interest working for the betterment of Canada, and Canadians, lays stress on the necessity of securing recognition and support for children.

To this already long list has been added a call for the influence of school teachers in the keeping of streets free from litter. To a large extent the children are responsible for this. Waste papers, chewing gum wrappers and candy wrappers are thrown upon streets and sidewalks regardless of the untidiness they cause. This litter is carried by the wind, and blowing about the streets, frightens horses, causing many run-aways and sometimes serious accidents. Waste paper also collects in sheltered places, falls through grates into basement window openings, or accumulates against wooden fences; a lighted match, or a cigar or cigarette stub carelessly thrown aside may fall upon this accumulation and cause a fire. All fires are the same size at the start and it is the apparently harmless fire which sometimes causes the greatest loss, both of property and lives.

The school teachers have it in their power to inculcate in their pupils a spirit of pride in the appearance of the streets, and great benefits will accrue from this effort on their part.

A Centepede ought to be able to stand on its own feet.

TO ASSIST THE FARMERS

(Continued from page 1) direct the immigration brought in through all the various agencies at work here for our Western development. It will direct the new comers brought in as a result of the Dominion Government's efforts. It will afford a channel through which the drift of immigration that comes along "on its own" may be properly looked after.

Social Service For The Board

The Land Settlement Board should also be able to achieve an invaluable service to the Province by directing the new settlers in a general way into districts where their former agricultural experience is most likely to ensure their success and where their neighbors will offer them a congenial social environment. With the active support of the Board it should be possible to maintain community organizations which will extend to the new settler and his family a hearty welcome and aid entrance into the social life of the community. It is only by such means that the exodus of our farmers from various districts can be stopped and the agricultural population be given that permanence of tenure which is essential to the continued growth and welfare of the country.

Internal Migration. Furthermore, it would appear that the Land Settlement Board with the information it will possess, will offer you an organization specially qualified to handle the transfer of settlers in the Province.

In addition to dealing with the land coming directly under its control an effective Provincial Settlement Board will have a very powerful indirect influence on agricultural development throughout the Province generally and will be a safeguard in protecting settlers from paying unjustifiably high prices for wild land. The operations of the Board cannot act otherwise than as a stimulus to the sale of unimproved land to actual settlers at reasonable prices. It undoubtedly will result in bringing a big increased acreage under permanent production and incidentally in lessening the burden of taxation on the existing population.

An Established Principle. The proposed legislation making the owner of unoccupied land his own assessor will merely follow the principle observed in the income tax return. This plan, if adopted, will render feasible the early issue of maps and price lists of unoccupied lands for sale in the Province. Without such fixed lists no adequate land settlement can be secured.

At best it will require some months to compile maps, price lists, etc. A minimum period of two years' listing is therefore necessary. The additional consideration (interest for one year and a refund of cost paid in the interval) allowed to the owner in case sale is made after the first year, makes this two year provision equivalent to a twelve months' listing which is the common practice.

A Just Proposal. As to the penalty proposed, i.e., doubling the unoccupied land tax, I am sure it will be the consensus of public opinion that the man who will not improve his land or offer it for sale for actual settlement at a reasonable price, should pay something for the "community development" carried on by his neighbors.

In requiring the non-resident owner of unoccupied land to appoint an agent in the locality of the land you will be merely supplying a necessary link in the chain between the settler and the owner, and at the same time making use of the local man who has the knowledge and experience necessary to properly look after the newcomer. In addition to the outlay involved in establishing and carrying on the detail work of the proposed Land Settlement Board, the Province must also expect to bear the expense of getting out maps and price lists of its unoccupied land, as well as literature to accompany same. All of this is constructive work and will be found very advantageous to the Province.

Other Activities. Moreover, if your Province is to benefit, as it should from the efforts of the Dominion Government and of voluntary associations such as the one permitted to direct, you should have two or three foreign offices of your own. In connection with these offices, particularly in the United States, the value of attending during the year fifteen to twenty American fair fairs, has been well established.

We anticipate that as our work in the United States and Great Britain develops opportunities will be offered to the Western Provinces to co-operate with us in furnishing "actual farmers" to carry on lecture work during the winter months. You may also wish to join in making other similar efforts destined to bring Western Canada to the door of the prospective settler. With such considerations in view we are anxious that your Province should not (through failure to provide funds) find itself in a position of inability to co-operate with our Association. Our Association contemplates an annual expenditure much in excess of the total immigration expenditures we are suggesting for all the Western Provinces put together.

Will Benefit Present Farmers Or The West

The outstanding need of the West is more people on the land. Failing a far-reaching colonization effort a hopelessly sparse population must continue to bear an undue burden of Municipal, Provincial and Federal taxation. Under these circumstances your Government can scarcely afford to pursue a policy of inaction regarding immigration.

In helping to establish satisfactory conditions for incoming settlers this Association is working and will work inevitably in the interests of those already on the land. It goes without saying that questions relating to freights, marketing, elevating and purchasing are common to all those engaged in agriculture. To put it in another way, this Association proposes entering into partnership with the Prairie Provinces; it will be identified with the actual settlement of farmers on the soil; as a natural consequence the welfare of agriculture throughout the west must necessarily command the support of the organization.

The colonization efforts outlined above will necessitate some expenditure for land settlement work in view of the fact that the unoccupied land owners in your Province are now obliged to pay a special tax which yields several hundred thousand dollars annually. It would not appear unreasonable that a sufficient amount of this tax should be set aside to assist in colonizing such lands.

The legislation suggested, in our judgment, is the least possible which will assure a permanent price list of the unoccupied lands and a satisfactory agency through which sale can be effected.

A Great Opportunity

The day for big private colonization schemes is over. Left to himself the small colonizer finds the effort required too great, the expense too heavy and the returns too uncertain. The area of the prairie provinces is so tremendous and railways and their branch lines are so numerous that a collective settlement scheme is not practicable if incoming settlers are to be located within reasonable distances of existing transportation facilities. Any successful colonization plan must deal with the individual settler.

Given the opportunity to co-operate with and operate through an "effective Land Settlement Board," given the line of continuity extending to the resident owner or the responsible local land agent, supplied with literature, maps and permanent price lists of unoccupied land, I firmly believe the Western Canada Colonization Association can bring into the Province a great number of the right kind of farmer settlers.

Respectfully submitted,

Managing Director.
